

First there was Stonehenge. Then the pyramids. Then those stone presidents in South Dakota or something.

Now the next installment in the amazingly groovy feats of history:

Spazzstick is a delicious lip balm that contains copious amounts of caffeine. Imagine you have chapped lips. You're tired. Your feet hurt, and you think you might get audited by the IRS.

Then you put on Spazzstick; the world's only Caffeinated lip balm. Your lips feel better. You feel a surge of happy adrenalin as the caffeine absorbs through your now-happy lips. The IRS guy calls and says they have a pile of money for you. Your boss gives you a raise and a new car. You get straight A's on everything.

(note: nothing beyond the happy lips will probably actually happen, but there's no harm in wishing)

Spazzstick is made from the finest ingredients, and is all vegetarian.

Spazzstick is made in the Alaskan village of Kaktovik, 300 miles north of the Arctic Circle.
